That Richmond, her civic pride aroused, is nerving herself for redoubled efforts in raising her quota of almost $20,000,000, is the belief of the Liberty loan leaders.

Hundreds of Richmond school children are setting an example for their ciders by throwing themselves wholly into the campaign with the result that they have already secured thousands of dollars in subscriptions. Their drive will be further stimulated by parades of the various schools in their districts this afternoon and meetings which will be held to-night at the different school buildings throughout the city.

Post-card reports of subscriptions from the various States in the Fifth Federal Reserve District were announced from headquarters here yesterday. These reports are far fom complete, and only 681 banks out of a total of 2,046 have sent in their figures. The total actually subscribed thus far, according to those post-card reports, is $31,502,650, or about one-seventh of the district's entire quota. The number of subscribers shown in these district reports is 46,617, with the State of Maryland leading with 13,332 buyers. Virginia has reported sales amounting to $8,108,700, being second in the list, the District of Columbia ranking third with sales aggregating $3,41,250. That these figures are low is indicated by reports from Washington yesterday that $5,000,000 had been raised at the initial receiting of the campaign there. The coo,000 had been raised at the initial recting of the campaign there. The report on the Pifth District given out last night in detail follows:

Except in the line of chemical research in recent years the German has taken no high place along in-ventive lines, the devices which have revolutionized living conditions and industrial achievement having been the products of other than German

Revenue Bill.

WASHINGTON, October 3.—Secretary of Treasury McAdoo to day urged upon the Finance Committee carly action upon the new war revenue bill to avert a grave peril to the successful financial conduct of the war.

In his letter to Senator Simmons chairman of the committee, Mr. McAdoo declares that the estimate of $24,000.000,000 expenditures for the year ending June 30, 1919, is based on sound grounds, and if there is a mistake, it is in underestimating rather than overestimating the war expenditures.

William Bullock, director-general of the union, brought a draft of the proposed measure to Washington and interested members of the administration and many Democratic and Republican Senators in it, ite had interviews with Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior; Raymond D. Fosdick, chairman of the Commission on Training Camp Activities, and Third Assistant Secretary of War Keppel, Modifications in the bitl were made as a result of these introduced necording to the views of these and other members of the administration.

In the view of members of the American Victory Union and of law officers in practically every community of the country, the bill is a war measure and an essential one. The passage of such a measure is necessary to restore public confidence in honest and worthy war charities, Money collections for the alleged benefit of the soldjers and sailors of the United States and of our allessare being made dally all over the country by hundreds of private organizations. There has been so much grafting and crookedness on the part of many of these organizations that Federal legislation has become imperative to meet the growing cvil. The operations of these alleged charities extend over many, States, and only Federal legislation can reach them.

LONDON, October 3.—Reports of an impending unconditional surrender by Turkey will not down. They permeated the city again all day. No sooner had the stock market opened when the story that Turkey's lay down had actually come to pass was circulated with a positiveness and persistency which ordinarily mark only facts that are known beyond all possible doubt. An army of correspondents besieged the Foreign Office all day. They were still on their posts to-night, on death watch, as one American reporter aptly put it.

But the last word that could be obtained was that the Foreign Office had no confirmation of the various reports. From Zurich came a circumstantial story to the Daily News confirming the report cabled two nights ago that Turkey has sent a virtual ultimatum to Germany.

The Porte, according to this dispatch has notified Berlin that she intends to "propose peace," which may be taken as a last pretense of pride, a camountage for the humilitating word "surrender," which alone will be listened to by the allies, just as in Bulgaria's case.
